

AIR ALERT

U.S. Air Force B-57 on a simulated night attack.

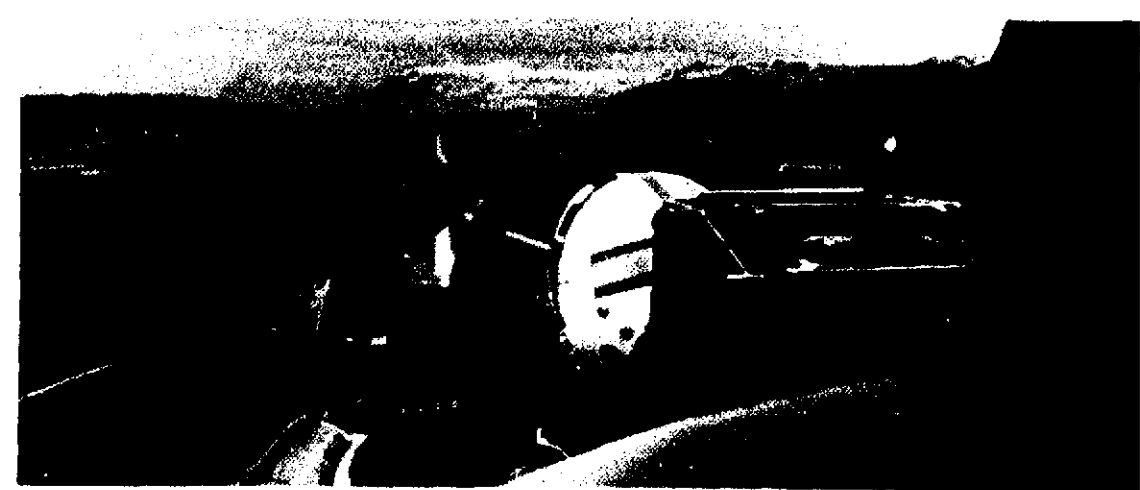

B-57 pilot prepares for take-off: his targets are Niagara and Buffalo.

North American Air Defense Command (NORAD) is the joint U.S.-Canadian agency charged with the defense of North American air space. Its largest region is the 22nd region, comprising two million square miles, with its headquarters at North Bay, Ontario.

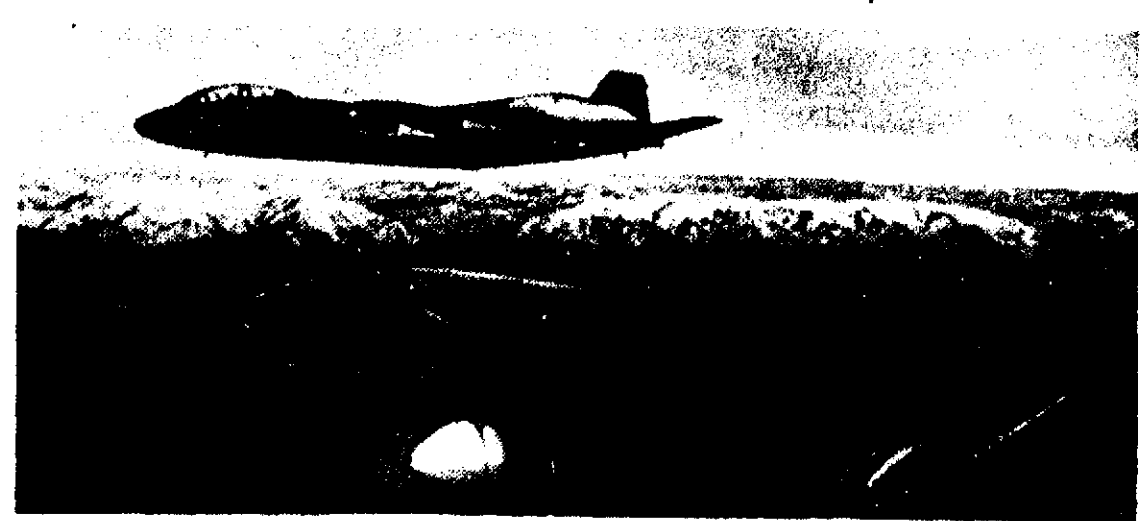

Three or four times a month orders go out for a preparedness test of the air defenses. This takes the form of a surprise air attack: "enemy" bombers are given the assignment of trying to slip through the defenses. They carry no bombs, but they have very precise targets; the damage they might inflict is calculated by computers as their movements are monitored. Supersonic fighters are sent up to intercept them and hunt them down for a make-believe "kill" in which no shot is fired but which is also recorded—by a flash on a radar detector screen.

The photostory on this page shows part of a typical exercise of this kind, carried out by B-57's aiming for the Niagara Falls power plant and the Buffalo, N.Y., chemical plant complex, in NORAD's 22nd region. The good guys get their man, with a margin of 40 seconds, which is not unusual. They do it 95 per cent of the time.

Tydings Denies Charge by Magazine

BALTIMORE (AP) — Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., says a Life magazine article about him is "wholly untrue and terribly unfair."

The article said the senator used his position to promote personal and financial interests. It said it did not suggest Tydings acted illegally but that his activities were not in keeping with his cosponsorship of legislation requiring full disclosure of congressmen's finances.

Tydings, 42, told a news conference Thursday that while he had not read the article in the Aug. 28 issue of Life, he had discussed its contents with the magazine's staff.

The article detailed Tydings' involvement with Charter Co., a Florida-based firm with a variety of corporate interests. Tydings served as a company director until last December and remains a major stockholder.

The magazine said that after Tydings was elected in 1964, he helped get the U.S. Agency for International Development to guarantee a $7 million loan for a Charter housing project in Nicaragua.

Life said Tydings and Raymond Mason, a close friend and head of Charter, met with Paul Bridston, then chief of AID's Latin American housing guarantee program.

Life said that shortly after the project was approved in May 1965 on Bridston's recommendation, the AID official resigned and later became a director of a Charter subsidiary involved in overseas housing.

Tydings said the meeting Life described was of a "personal and social nature" and quoted Bridston as saying no Charter business had been discussed.

Bridston was not available for comment. Tydings denied any conflict of interest and said he had never used his position "to advance the interests of the Charter Co. or of any other company in which I have a personal interest."

The senator, noting the proximity of the Sept. 15 primary, in which he is opposed by George P. Mahoney and Walter Finch, wondered whether Life "has permitted itself to be used for partisan political advantage."

Tydings charged that the magazine and the story's author, William Lambert, "have benefitted from some very close contacts in the Republican administration."

Marinate Thrifty Meat Cuts

By AILEEN CLAIRE
NEA Food Editor

Imaginative ways of preparing less-tender meat cuts win gold stars for the economy-minded homemaker.

Chuck roast or comparable cut, marinated for at least 12 hours and rich with herbs and spices, puts you at the head of the class.

Remember this rule of thumb: When using whole spices in a stew or with braised meat, add the spices at the beginning. Ground spices go in about 15 minutes before meat is removed from the heat. Serve an El-dorado Chuck Steak with whole boiled potatoes cooked in dill and tomatoes.

ELDORADO CHUCK STEAK

- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed beef broth, undiluted
- 1 tablespoon mixed pickling spice
- 2 cups dry red wine (or 1 cup red wine vinegar and 1 cup water)
- ½ cup salad oil
- ½ cup onion flakes
- 1 teaspoon instant minced garlic
- 4 to 4½-pound bone-in chuck roast
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper

Spicy marinade makes chuck steak a budget delight.

In a small saucepan, combine broth with mixed pickling spice. Bring to boiling point. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, 5 minutes. Add wine or wine vinegar and water, oil, onion flakes and garlic. Cool. Place meat in double-lined plastic bag or light-fitting container. Pour marinade over meat. Cover and refrigerate 12 hours or longer.

Remove meat from marinade. Place on rack in roasting pan. Sprinkle both sides of meat with salt and black pepper. Top meat with some onions from marinade. Roast in a preheated 350-degree oven 2½ to 3 hours or until meat is tender, brushing occasionally with marinade.

If desired, serve with gravy made by combining equal amounts of strained marinade and water. Thicken with 2 tablespoons flour to each cup of liquid. Heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Makes 6 to 8 portions.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

FROM "HURT" TO "HEART-BREAK"

Could you please print again your column on "What Is Being Hurt"? It was written by a girl who, like me, is trying to recover from a "broken heart." Thanks. — ANGELA

Dear Angela:
How about this as a substitute? — WHAT IS HEARTBREAK?

Heartbreak is smiling to cover up a heartbreak. It's telling everyone "We weren't right for each other," but knowing you were PERFECT for one another — so why doesn't HE know?

It's wanting to be alone so you can daydream about the big reconciliation.

Heartbreak is trying to look happy when he sees you. If you don't he'll feel bad, because he's hurt you (he's that kind of guy.)

It's defending him when someone puts him down — even if it isn't your business any more.

It's wishing he'd go away so you could forget him — but stretching your neck at any social event to look for him. (And then he's with "her.")

It's remembering the things you said that you shouldn't have said, and saying "I'm sorry" to his picture that's still on the back of your dresser. It's hoping every telephone call will be "him," but it never is because that last fight blew everything. So he treats you like a sister, and how can you get around THAT?

Heartbreak is a pillow full of tears, a soul full of emptiness, a heart full of unanswered love, and a head full of beautiful memories. It's hoping that maybe...someday...somehow... but knowing deep down you aren't even fooling yourself.

Heartbreak is realizing too late that you're stupid and you goofed! — HEARTBROKEN

Dear Helen:
Could you once more give us the name and address of the organization that sends our letters to our servicemen in Vietnam? — THE GIRLS

Send your letters to servicemen inside another envelope addressed to:

Enclose five cents for each letter, to help cover overseas postage. Include your name and address on your stationery; write as interestingly as possible about upbeat things. Even if you don't get an answer to every letter, you'll know that you cheered someone who badly needed a note from home. —H.

P.S.: Here's another way you can write. The USO has just begun "Operation Pen Pal." Put your letter inside a stamped (six cents) envelope and address it to: Operation Pen Pal, USO Executive Office—Saigon, APO San Francisco 96243

On other questions raised by McClerkin, Faubus said:

—Money for an expensive home near Huntsville was obtained from savings and some personal donations from friends, but mostly from borrowed money, Faubus said. McClerkin had asked where Faubus got the money for the "mansion."

—Faubus said, contrary to McClerkin's charges, gambling was stopped at Hot Springs before the former governor left office.

—In answer to McClerkin's question about why Faubus

"took care of only his friends with unauthorized raises" for some state Highway Department employees in 1966, Faubus said he had nothing to do with the raises. He said they were not unauthorized because the raises did not exceed the limits placed in the appropriation bill by the General Assembly.

—McClerkin's final question was: Why did Faubus let the state's prisons become "the laughing stock of the nation?" Faubus replied he had made improvements to the prisons while he was governor but other state problems took priority over the prisons.

Literally Lights Out for Taylor

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — It was literally "lights out" for England's Roger Taylor Thursday night in the Colonial National Invitation tennis tournament in his heralded duel with Rod Laver—Taylor's victim this summer at Wimbledon.

"Laver has some unusual shots and they're very hard to follow, especially in the lights," said Taylor after falling 6-4, 7-5 to the strong-armed Laver in a quarterfinal match between the two southpaws.

Taylor said Laver's shots in the lights were hard to pick up until they crossed the net and he added, "And that's too late."

Laver fell behind 0-3 but rallied to tie it up at 3-3 and grabbed the first set.

"I had a chance in the first set to wrap it up, but I blew it," Taylor said.

In another quarter - final match, Wimbledon King John Newcomb whipped self-styled South African hippie Roy Moore 6-4, 6-3.

Newcomb's semifinal opponent will be the winner of tonight's match between Pancho Gonzalez and fourth-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia. Laver meets the winner of a quarter-final match between Andrews Gimeno of Spain and Australian Ken Rosewall.

Reds Suffer 3rd Straight Defeat

In the driver's seat for a change, New York Mets' left-hander Jerry Koosman pulled back on the throttle and switched gears to perfection, steering the Big Red Machine into a temporary skid.

Koosman, a 17-game winner last year and winner of two World Series games for the world champion Mets, completed his first start since June 25th, stalling the Cincinnati Reds on seven hits in New York's 4-1 triumph Friday night. It was the Reds' third straight loss and their West lead dwindled to a still-fat 10 games over Los Angeles.

Claude Osteen of the Dodgers won his fourth straight over Pittsburgh at home, stopping the Pirates 2-1 on a seven-hitter, sending the Mets to within 1 1/2 games of the East Division-leading Pirates.

In other National League games, San Francisco trimmed Chicago 5-1, Montreal tripped Atlanta 6-4, St. Louis trounced San Diego 14-8 and Philadelphia and Houston split a doubleheader, the Phillies winning the opener 9-3 and the Astros the nightcap 9-1.

In the American League, Baltimore blanked California 5-0, New York topped Chicago 4-2, Cleveland whipped Oakland 6-3, Minnesota edged Washington 4-3, Kansas City nipped Boston 2-1 in 12 innings and Detroit downed Milwaukee 6-4.

Koosman, 8-6, but plagued by a sore arm said, "My arm feels good. I was changing speeds off my curve very well. When I reached back for the fast ball occasionally, it was there."

The run off Koosman was unearned when Bud Harrelson booted a fourth inning grounder, his second error of the game, ending a record-tying 34 games of errorless ball by the Mets' shortstop. Dave Marshall keyed two Mets' rallies with a single and double, helping the Reds' to their third straight loss.

Osteen, 13-11, had a run of 46 scoreless innings against Pittsburgh at Dodger Stadium before the Pirates got a fifth-inning run on successive two-out singles by Matty Alou, Dave Cash and Roberto Clemente.

The Cubs missed a chance to pick up ground on the Pirates but still remain only four games back in third place as they fell to Giants' right-hander Frank Reberger's six-hitter.

San Francisco pounded out 10 hits and all five runs in 5 2-3 innings off Chicago starter Bill Hands, 14-11. Willie McCovey drove in one run and scored another for the Giants.

The Expos rolled to their fourth straight triumph behind the home-run hitting of Bob Bailey, Rusty Staub and John Bateman. Carl Morton, who needed eighth-inning relief help, picked up his 15th victory. Clete Boyer and Bob Tillman homered for the Braves while Hank Aaron had a pair of RBIs, sending the right-fielder into eighth place on the all-time list with 1,529.

Minnesota 4-3 Over Washington

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tom Tischenki wriggled off Bill Rigney's hook, Reggie Smith shagged Wally Bunker's line and Ken Berry swallowed Ron Klimkowski's sinker.

The three fishermen figure they've never had it so good. Tischenki, Minnesota's light-hitting reserve catcher, smacked his first major league home run Friday night—before manager Rigney could pull him out of the lineup—to give the Twins a 4-3 victory over Washington.

Smith's 19th homer ruined Bunker's bid for his first pitching victory of the season, but the luckless Kansas City right-hander twirled three-hit ball for 11 innings before the Royals nipped Boston 2-1 on Bob Oliver's bases-loaded single in the 12th.

Klimkowski, a rookie relief specialist, got three outs on two pitches to Berry, nipping a Chicago rally and helping the New York Yankees down the White Sox 4-2.

In other American League games, Baltimore blanked California 5-0 as Dave McNally became the first 19-game winner in the majors; Cleveland trimmed Oakland 6-3 for Sam McDowell's 18th victory and Detroit topped Milwaukee 6-4.

In National League play, the New York Mets tripped Cincinnati 4-1; Los Angeles upended Pittsburgh 2-1; San Francisco defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-1; Montreal cuffed Atlanta 6-4; St. Louis outscored San Diego 14-8 and Houston divided a two-night doubleheader with Philadelphia, winning 9-1 after a 9-3 defeat.

With George Mitterwald, Minnesota's regular catcher, meeting a military reserve commitment, Tischenki, a .171 hitter, was pressed into a starting role. He went out in his first two trips to the plate, then hammered the tie-breaking homer off Casey Cox in the seventh inning. It was his first extra-base hit of this season.

"Do you know what I was thinking all the time?" said Rigney. "I was looking for a spot to lift him for a pinch-hitter."

Bunker, winless in seven decisions, shackled the Red Sox on two scattered hits after Smith's fourth-inning homer but was in the Kansas City clubhouse when Oliver's bloop single in the 12th scored Amos Otis to break up the overtime struggle.

"That was the best game I've ever pitched in my life," the injury-plagued veteran said. "And that includes 1964, when I won 19 games for Baltimore. I'm happy even if I didn't get the win. This proves I'm ready to go."

Yanks' rookie Steve Kline took a 4-1 lead into the sixth inning at Chicago but was yanked after Bill Melton's leadoff homer and singles by Ed Herrmann and Syd O'Brien.

Klimkowski came out of the bullpen and on his first pitch, Berry missed a bunt attempt and catcher Jake Gibbs picked Herrmann off second base. On the next pitch, Berry bounced into an inning-ending double play.

Singles by Berry and Duane Josephson in the ninth kayoed Klimkowski, but right fielder Jim Lytle threw Berry out at the plate on another hit by Gail Hopkins, enabling Lindy Mc-

Era of Pocket QB On the Way Out

NEW YORK (NEA) Quarterbacks who throw passes from a stationary stance behind a protective wall of linemen may be obsolescent in pro football. And that goes for sharpshooters as effective as Johnny Unitas and Joe Namath.

A panel of six pro coaches, noted for their imaginative offenses, predicts the '70s will see a new breed of big, mobile quarterbacks rolling out with the ball and keeping the defense guessing with the threat of a pass or a run. They believe the classic marksman, setting and throwing in a pocket of blockers, will be supplanted by passers who also are rugged ball carriers on the order of Joe Kapp, Roman Gabriel and Daryle Lamonica. If they are scramblers like Fran Tarkenton, so much the better.

"The trend to more movement by the quarterback will overshadow all other offensive innovations coming up," declares Hank Stram, coach of the champion Kansas City Chiefs. "Combined with man-in-motion and option plays, the mobile quarterback will give the offense more variety and flexibility than it ever has had."

"Something must be done to keep the defense off balance," Paul Brown, of the Cincinnati Bengals, argues. "The quarterback rollout is ideally suited to that purpose. It forces defensive linemen to hold up until the play develops instead of blowing in there and knocking down everybody in sight."

Tom Landry, who has installed a tricky attack at Dallas, agrees with the forecast with one important reservation. "Before you build running plays around the quarterback, you'd better be certain he can hold up physically under the pounding he's sure to take. Good quarterbacks are so scarce and require so much experience that I think it's foolish to expose them to injury just to add a little more deception."

Variety, supposedly the spice of life for most people, is even more essential to football coaches. It's their meal-ticket in devising offenses and no one in the business springs more plays and formations on the opposition than Stram. However, there is a division of opinion among the panel of six coaches in this survey whether Kansas City's multiple offense will be widely copied during the coming season.

"I believe it will be because the winner always influences the rest of the league," Landry says. "It was that way with Green

Oak Grove Methodist Annual Homecoming

On Sunday, August 23, there will be an annual Homecoming of the Oak Grove Methodist Church, 1 1/2 miles East of Shover Springs. Sunday School is at 10 a.m., church at 11, lunch at 12 and singing in the afternoon. The public is invited.

Daniel to nail his 18th save.

McNally, backed by Brooks Robinson's three-run homer, scattered six hits in bringing his season mark to 19-7 as the Orioles breezed to their sixth straight victory.

Duke Sims drilled a three-run homer and rookie Roy Foster, Ted Uhlaender and Vada Pinson hit bases-empty blasts as the Indians overpowered the A's. Dean Chance, and rookie Rick Austin finished up for McDowell, 18-8, who left the game in the sixth after pulling a leg muscle.

Al Kaline's bases-loaded double and three Brewers' errors keyed a four-run fourth inning rally that carried the Tigers past Milwaukee. Southpaw Les Cain overcame a shaky start and notched his 12th victory in 16 decisions.

THE CLASSIC drop-back quarterback will be replaced in the 1970s by the more mobile kind—like Oakland's Daryle Lamonica, left, and New York Giants' Frank Tarkenton, right—both of whom have been known to do some running when receivers are covered.

From T. C. "Claud" COX To All The People Of Nevada County:

In asking you to promote me from the Circuit Clerk's office to the County Judge's office—

I assure you I will work with the Arkansas Highway Commission and any other group or individual to get as many miles of county roads added as possible to the Arkansas State Highway system. I believe that we can get quite a few miles added every year.

I do not intend or mean any criticism but merely am stating facts, that there has been only 2 miles of county roads added to the state highway system in the past 3 1/2 years, and that is a strip from Bluff City to the State Park and White Oak Lake.

I will see to it that the follow up men behind the motor graders clean out the ends of all culverts and bridges.

As your County Judge I will start widening our country roads where they are too narrow. I will also cut the brush and fix our dangerous blind curves where you can see around them and thereby prevent the possibility of many wrecks.

I will be on the job and get an honest day's work and value received for every tax dollar spent.

I will also work with anyone to help promote anything that is good for our county, city or any community.

I have no individual or group running me, and if elected I assure you that I will be the County Judge for all the people of Nevada County.

As you all know our county business is getting to be a big business, and a lot of money is involved. If elected I will handle the affairs of the county in a business like manner.

I will appreciate your vote and support.

Can You Beat That

It wasn't as if it couldn't be done, but New York City natives simply hadn't ever thought of doing such a thing. So when Mayor Lindsay cut off 9-to-5 traffic for 15 blocks on 5th Avenue for several Saturdays, the city dwellers discovered the pleasures of walking down a street without the risk of being maimed by a car or engulfed by waves of auto exhaust.

But there was another miracle on 5th Avenue: slowly, some New Yorkers began talking to strangers, exchanging pleasantries about how nice it was to stroll along. They could, perhaps for the first time, enjoy the sights of their city without having to listen to much of its harassing sounds.

Whether merchants were hard hit by people shopping windows rather than stores will determine whether the experiment will be continued. But in general the merchants seemed satisfied.

One 16-year old girl commented on the traffic-stopping scene: "Some people didn't even notice there weren't any cars. Can you beat that? It shows you how much we need this kind of thing." — Roanoke (Va.) Times

McClarkin's Poll Indicates He Can Win

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Hayes C. McClarkin, a Democratic candidate for governor, said Thursday night that a poll taken for him showed that he could defeat Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in the November general election.

McClarkin said in a prepared statement the poll showed that former Gov. Orval E. Faubus could not defeat Rockefeller.

McClarkin said the poll was taken by Penetration Research, a subsidiary of Oliver Quayle and Co., a firm that McClarkin said did polls for former Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

According to the poll, McClarkin said, he could defeat Rockefeller 53 per cent to 47 per cent but that four months ago Rockefeller would have won by about the same margin.

McClarkin said the poll showed him in second place in the Democratic primary behind Faubus. He said Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell was in third place, two percentage points behind McClarkin.

Earlier Thursday night in a televised speech, McClarkin said that it was "just another irresponsible Faubus statement" when Faubus pledged to operate state prisons in the way he thought best or send inmates to live on a federal judge's lawn.

Faubus made the remark in connection with a decision by U.S. District Judge J. Smith Henley that the prisons were operated unconstitutionally. Henley has directed the administration of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller to make improvements to bring the prisons up to a constitutional standard.

On other issues, McClarkin said:

—In his first year as governor he would seek no tax increase but would study all parts of state government to make certain any inefficiencies were eliminated.

"We must prove wise spending," McClarkin said, before seeking a tax hike.

—Black people have been neglected in state government. "It is my intention to appoint blacks to responsible areas, not just janitors, but responsible decision-making positions," McClarkin said.

—Public school teacher salaries should be raised $500 next year and college instructor salaries should be increased 10 per cent. He said the increases could be granted with funds resulting from the natural growth of the economy without tax increases.

—He is opposed to busing aimed at achieving racial balance in public schools.

During June and July the High Point Really Comes for Girl Scouts

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

To many people summer-time means camping-time.

As the heat of the city or town grows more intense, the cool shade of nearby wooded areas beckons invitingly. In June and July the high point in Conifer Council Girl Scouts' lives was a visit to Camp High Point near Mena. What about the month of August? More about that later.

At Camp High Point the girls lived in units with from 28 to 33 other campers and 2 to 4 counselors. Miss Jennifer Tolleson, a student at the U of A, was one of the counselors.

The largest group of girls from Hope ever to attend Camp High Point were in three sessions this year. More than 50 girls from here participated in hiking, building a foot bridge over the creek, nature study, archery, dramatics, arts and crafts, lashing tables and racks, improving campcraft skills, folk dancing, playing games, swimming or canoeing.

Some of those taking part were: Peggy Lehman, Mary Overturf, Bonnie Roy, Julie Graves, Debbie and Donna Petre, Jolyn Herndon, Debra Bennett, Shirley Sinyard, Donna Cox, Dana Flowers, Donna Pendergraft, Kathy McCain, Kim Hairr, Angela and Chris Kellam, and Raelaine Jordan.

Part of the time girls from all units came together and ate in the dining hall. Other times they had a picnic in their unit or ate a noshbag lunch while hiking—or better still—cooked their own meals over an open fire.

Sometimes they went on a scavenger hunt and found their breakfast hanging in a tree. As their camping skills improved, they often planned and executed a one to four-night overnight where they pitched tents, slept on cots and cooked all their meals.

At times the whole camp got together for special activities such as an outerspace party, a field day or an Indian Campfire. The whole camp gathered for more serious activities, too, such as flag ceremonies, church services or the traditional last night campfire.

For those who were unable to attend any of the three sessions at Camp High Point this year, a special day camp is now in session at Camp Kariton Kemp near Texarkana. It is being operated as part of the Model Cities Program and is proving to be highly successful from all reports. The cooperation and harmony among the Negro and white troops is of particular significance.

A fine example of this will be shown when all Girl Scout troops in Hope take part in the 3rd District Livestock Show Parade next month. We have 3 Negro troops, Brownie, Junior and Cadette, who will be among the participating Hope Girl Scouts. There is no color line when a Girl Scout "helps other people at all times."

Long-hair Fad Trims Barbers in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — The number of barbers in Chicago has been trimmed by the long-hair fad, so their union is urging them to cut their patronage of the shaggy maned.

"We've lost about 400 barbers in the last couple of years," said Thomas Siracusa, secretary-treasurer of Local 548 of the Journeyman Barbers Union, AFL-CIO.

Siracusa said Thursday that his local, which he described as the largest in the nation, is down to a membership of 2,500 from close to 3,000 about two years ago.

"In our magazine we try to promote the clean-cut look," he said. "And we're telling our barbers not to patronize long-hairs."

"They don't give us any business," he said. "Why should we give them any?"

"I even told my wife, 'If you go to a store where longhairs work don't buy there, go someplace else.'"

"And what can the wives say?" Siracusa continued. "If we don't bring home the money what can they do?"

"I think the government should do something about it," Siracusa said.

"They should kick these longhairs out of school, as dirty as some of them are. This is a national problem, it's hurting barbers all across the country."

He said many of the barbers in his local quit the trade to go into another business. Most of the job attrition has been in shops that employed more than one barber.

Helena Blacks for Purcell

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell's campaign headquarters said today the Helena - West Helena Voters League and the Augusta Civic League, both Negro organizations, had joined the Arkansas Democratic Voters Association in endorsing Purcell, a Democrat, for governor.

Protection for Foreigners Is Reduced

NEW YORK (AP) — Police protection for foreign government interests in New York is to be cut nearly in half starting at midnight.

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary announced Thursday that 50 of 106 patrolmen assigned to diplomatic posts would be withdrawn at that time and protection at 17 of 37 locations housing foreign interests would be eliminated.

However, patrols outside the major United Nations missions and consulates are to be maintained at present levels, he said in a statement.

Leary said the move had been under consideration for several months and was ordered after "extensive discussion" with the State Department and the U.S. mission to the United Nations.

Under the revisions, the Police Department will discontinue assignments to locations where foreign personnel lack diplomatic immunity, he said, thus eliminating police guards at private buildings where foreign governments have purely financial or political interests.

Commission to Consider Campus Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — The President's Commission on Campus Unrest, its hearings complete, starts preliminary work today on what its chairman has described as the "very hard task" of drafting recommendations on how to keep peace at the nation's colleges this fall.

Chairman William W. Scranton said the commission would hold working seminars all day before starting to draft its recommendations to President Nixon. He said he hoped the report would be ready sometime next month.

The commission concluded its hearings Friday at Kent State University, Ohio, where four students died in a confrontation with National Guardsmen May 4. It had previously taken testimony in Washington and at Jackson, Miss., where two young Negroes were killed by gunfire during a demonstration May 14.

At its final session at Kent State, the commission was told that only Ohio National Guardsmen fired guns during the May 4 disturbance in which 11 students were also wounded.

George Warren, an attorney on the commission's staff, said FBI agents determined 29 guardsmen fired a minimum of 54 shots in 11 seconds.

The FBI, he said, reported that "no other than a guardsman ... discharged a firearm May 4."

Warren also said the FBI found no evidence of a sniper firing at guardsmen, contradicting an earlier report that sniper fire precipitated the shootings.

He said the FBI described guardsmen involved in the shootings as "terrified."

Warren, a 31-year-old Lansing, Mich. attorney, said the FBI learned a photographer on the roof of a campus building "had a camera mounted on a rifle gunstock, something that could have looked like a firearm."

He also testified that FBI agents discovered military bullets as far as one mile away from the shooting site and that agents had picked up 60 pounds of rocks, sticks and other objects from the scene.

James C. Woodring Jr. of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, said he saw a National Guard lieutenant give what appeared to be a hand signal that started the shooting.

The 19-year-old told the commission that the officer turned toward the troops, raised his pistol in the air, then turned back toward the crowd of students and "started to fire point blank into the ground."

Supersonic Transport Plane Praised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Aviation Administrator John H. Shaffer says the supersonic transport airplane (SST) will be the most productive machine in transportation history, and not simply a luxury for the jet-set.

"The SST is not a frill, not something just for the few," Shaffer said Thursday. "It has not a damn thing to do with the jet set."

"People who want to fly are going to use and need a faster, more productive piece of equipment," he added.

Shaffer made the remarks in a talk before FAA officials and employees at a ceremony marking the fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of flight service stations—small radio stations set up to give airplane pilots weather and direction information.

"It is 50 years since the airplane became useful in a commercial and social sense," he said. "The SST is as logical in the evolution of aviation as those old airplanes you saw on a movie screen today, as natural in the evolution of aviation as running is after walking."

2 Newspapers for McClarkin

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Hayes C. McClarkin of Texarkana, a Democratic candidate for governor, received the endorsement Thursday of two newspapers — the Lincoln Leader and the Osceola Times.

The Times called McClarkin a "dynamic young man" and said because of his 10 years of experience in the legislature he had the knowledge to be governor.

The Leader said McClarkin was "knowledgeable and experienced" and would initiate changes and reform in government.

Faubus Speaks on Favorite Subjects

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Former Gov. Orval E. Faubus spoke to a crowd of about 3,000 persons here Thursday night on two of his favorite subjects — prisons and busing to achieve racial balance in public schools.

Faubus spoke for about 45 minutes at a rally sponsored by the Jefferson County Young People for Faubus. He spent most of his presentation covering issues had had used before.

The former governor said the state's prisons were not being administered properly. A prisoner can "just go down there and sit or lie down if he doesn't want to work," Faubus said.

"I don't know why so many of them (inmates) run off as good as they've got it," Faubus said.

Faubus called the busing of public school students to achieve racial balance "idiotic and insane."

Earlier Thursday evening, Faubus said in a speech in Little Rock that the law did not allow a voter to participate in the preferential primary of one party and the runoff primary of another.

Faubus said if the law is interpreted differently, it's his contention that it would be just as legal to participate in both the Republican and Democratic preferential primaries on the same day Tuesday.

"And, if this be the case, I'm going to urge all my followers and all the Democrats throughout the state to come down to the Democratic primary and then proceed over into the Republican primary and vote in it," Faubus said.

"And you know what might be the result — R. J. Hampton or Uncle Mac MacKrell might be the Republican nominee."

Hampton, a Negro, and James "Uncle Mac" MacKrell are two of three Republicans opposing Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in the GOP primary.

Faubus told a meeting of the Little Rock Jaycees that he would do his best in the time before the election to determine whether a voter will be permitted to participate in the preferential primary of one party Tuesday and then vote in the runoff of another party Sept. 8.

Faubus said a law sponsored by him during his administration prevented a voter from participating in such a manner. Or, at least, that was the intent of the law, he said.

Confusion has arisen over whether the law clearly prevents voter participation in both parties. Thomas Glaze of Little Rock, head of the Election Laws Institute, said Friday the picture was further confused by a Democratic party interpretation, designed to permit George Wallace's 1968 supporters to vote in the party primary, that said "any person may vote in any Democratic primary election held in this state without challenge."

Glaze said a final determination of a voters eligibility would have to be made by the Democratic party.

Bill G. Wells, a Democratic candidate for governor, also spoke to the Jaycee meeting. He devoted his remarks to education. He said $11 million next year could raise Arkansas to the average of other Southwestern states in teachers' salaries.

Candidates in Texarkana Rallies

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — Seven of the 13 gubernatorial candidates were on hand for two political rallies here Friday night.

Those who attended were Democrats Orval Faubus, Hayes McClarkin and Robert Compton; Republicans R. J. Hampton, Lester Gibbs and James MacKrell; and American party candidate Walter Carruth.

About 1,000 persons turned out for a rally on the Miller County courthouse lawn but only about 60 showed up for a rally sponsored by the Tri-State Citizens Council. A large part of that crowd left after Faubus spoke.

Faubus said that people in Little Rock are more concerned today about busing public school students than they have ever been before. Faubus said the concern exceeded that of the racial crisis in 1957.

McClarkin followed Faubus at the Miller County rally and quipped as Faubus was leaving the speaker's platform: "Well Orval, I showed you how to get a crowd out."

Faubus replied: "Come up to Huntsville sometime and I'll get a crowd for you."

McClarkin told the crowd that he would win in the Aug. 25 primary, and in the November general election.

"Texarkana will have its first governor," McClarkin, a native of Texarkana, said.

Compton said the lawlessness would not be tolerated if he were elected.

"We will have law and order when Bob Hampton is elected governor," he said.

MacKrell told the crowd that he was the only candidate who "tells what I am doing."

MacKrell said that he was not a racist as some people have implied. He said that "95 per cent of all Negroes" do not want integration.

Gibbs charged that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller "buys votes like a pig in a market."

"Take his money, drink his whisky and then vote for the man of your choice," Gibbs said.

Hampton told the audience that he was concerned about quality education, the moral climate, pollution and about a state government "that is as frugal with your tax dollar as you are with your grocery dollar ..."

Carruth, making an attempt to gain support in the November general election, said the Democrats and the Republicans are the "total causes" of the state's problems.

New Chemicals Could Solve Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of Texas researchers said today it has developed chemicals which could increase the effectiveness of herbicides and insecticides while decreasing environmental pollution.

The chemicals, called "water-degradable polymers," also could be used as a pharmaceutical aid or in the packaging industry, the researchers said.

M. L. Beasley and R. L. Collins, both of Austin Science Associates Inc., told of the development in a report to the technical journal "Science."

Polymers are compounds created by the union of two or more similar molecules. The new compound has the same elements as the original but possesses a higher molecular weight and has different physical properties.

The new polymers differ from those already discovered in that they break down in the presence of moisture.

The chemicals, when combined with conventional herbicides, produce a sticky resin which can be applied to plants. The addition of moisture causes the polymer to break down, releasing the herbicide.
